WEBINAR

A new dawn for Tanzania and FDI

The change of tone ushered in by President Samia Suluhu Hassan over the last month could indicate a welcome new economic direction in Tanzania. Could this be the beginning of a different policy approach to foreign direct investment to Tanzania as well as the ease of doing business in the country?

We are pleased to invite you to our webinar, where a panel of policy experts will discuss what conditions and changes investors could and should expect to Tanzania's investment regime.

Date: Tuesday 4 May 2021
Time: 15:00 - 16:00 CAT / 16:00 - 17:00 EAT

SPEAKER PROFILES

Peter Leon, based in Johannesburg, is a partner and Africa Co-Chair at Herbert Smith Freehills. During the last decade International Who's Who of Mining Lawyers, BestLawyer, Legal 500 EMEA, Chambers and Partners and other peer reviewed global legal directories have consistently identified him as one of the world's pre-eminent mining lawyers and in 2021 named him "as one of the top mining lawyers in the world" (Who's Who Legal: Mining 2021). Peter excels in helping resolve contentious issues arising from mining projects and related developments in Africa. His areas of expertise include crisis management, resource nationalism, mineral and petroleum regulation in developing countries (including international best practice) indigenisation law, international investment law and investment protection.

Sheila Khama, is an independent consultant, a minerals, oil and gas policy advisor, an author, podcast host with more than two decades' work experience. Sheila is a former executive of Anglo American Corporation and De Beers Groups in Botswana. She has extensive knowledge of the mining industry, the Africa business environment and sustainability challenges in mineral, oil and gas industries. She worked for the World Bank and African Development Bank's mineral, oil and gas policy advisory units leading teams of experts advising governments in Africa, Latin America and Central Asia.

Dr. Carole Nakhle, is the founder and CEO of Crystol Energy. An Energy Economist, she specialises in international petroleum contractual arrangements and fiscal regimes; upstream oil and gas regulations; petroleum revenue management and governance; energy policy, security and investment; and world oil and gas market developments. With a unique breadth of experience, Dr Nakhle has worked with oil and gas companies (NOCs and IOCs) at the highest levels, governments and policy makers, international organisations, academic institutions and specialised think tanks on a global scale.

Amb. Mwanaidi Maajar, is a career legal practitioner and was Tanzania's Ambassador to the United States of America and High Commissioner to the United Kingdom between 2006 and 2013. She holds an LL.M., and an LL.B. (Hons) both from the University of Dar es Salaam, and short professional courses in Italy, Tanzania, and the United States. Amb. Maajar is Chair of REX Advocates, which changed its name in August 2019 from ENSafrica Tanzania Attorneys, of which she was one of the founding partners. She heads the Natural Resources Law Practice at REX Advocates which covers energy, mining oil & gas as part of general corporate commercial practice. She is an advocate and a leading corporate legal practitioner.

Manzi Rwegasira, is a banker by profession but also a technology enthusiast. Prior to moving back home to Tanzania, he worked in London for several years in the banking sector. His career began as an investment banking analyst at Bank of America (BoFA) in New York and London where he covered mergers and acquisitions in the natural resources industry. After his stint with BoFA, Mr. Rwegasira spent over three years at Barclays doing mergers and acquisitions in the financial services sector. During his time at Barclays he worked on a number of high profile transactions such as the acquisition of Lehman Brothers in 2008 and sale of Barclays Global Investors (BGI) in 2009. He also spent some time with the London Stock Exchange Group (LSEG) as a Strategy and Planning Manager helping devise corporate strategy and executing merger and acquisitions transactions.
